

CEO LEADERSHIP Exchange

AI for Funders: Practical Applications for Foundation Leadership

Tuesday, August 11 (10:00am-11:30am ET / 9:00am-10:30am CT)

Speaker Profiles

Tom Lawrence

President & CEO
The Leon Levine Foundation

Tom Lawrence is the President and CEO and a member of the Board of Directors with The Leon Levine Foundation as well as Chief Executive Officer of the Levine family office. Tom joined the family office in 2002 to oversee the personal finances, tax compliance and investment portfolio management for the family and its Foundation. As President, Tom is responsible for directing the overall staff, program, and administrative activities of the Foundation. He works closely with the board to develop the Foundation's vision and strategies. He previously worked in the Family Wealth Planning division of Arthur Andersen in Charlotte and with the general services group of McGladrey & Pullen in Richmond, Virginia. Born in Nashville, Tennessee, Tom is a graduate of the University of Richmond. He and his wife, Gina, have two children.

Georgia Mjartan

President & CEO
Central Carolina Community Foundation

Georgia Mjartan is President and CEO of Central Carolina Community Foundation, where she is responsible for the Foundation's overall leadership, strategy, and operations. Her career spans philanthropy, government, nonprofit management, and social enterprise, with experience in fundraising, grantmaking, public policy, organizational strategy, and cross-sector collaboration. She has a particular interest in how innovation and emerging technologies can strengthen philanthropic organizations and the communities they serve. Prior to joining the Foundation, Georgia led a state agency serving 64,000 children and their families, led a large nonprofit organization, and worked as a consultant to foundations and federal agencies. Georgia serves on the national boards of Parents as Teachers and Listen4Good and is an Aspen Institute Ascend Fellow.

Philanthropy
SOUTHEAST

Together for Change